

African Graduate Mentorship and Coaching Program (AGMCP) Cohort 5-2024

Memorability by
Jackline Jeruiyot

Mentor: Dr. Omobolaji Obisesan

Introduction

- ❖ I am grateful to the AGMCP team for granting me the privilege to participate in the fifth cohort of their mentorship program
- ❖ It has been an incredible journey of learning, mentorships, and growth, made possible by the diverse learning opportunities provided by AGMCP.

Lessons and Experiences from AGMCP -2024

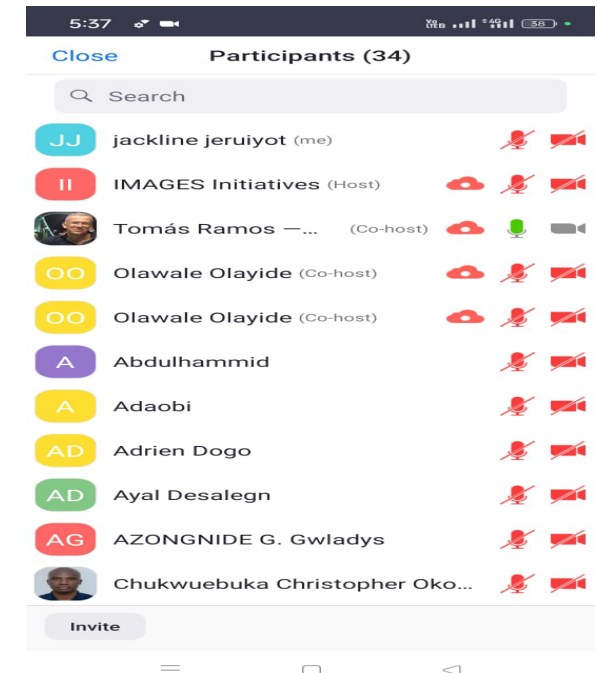

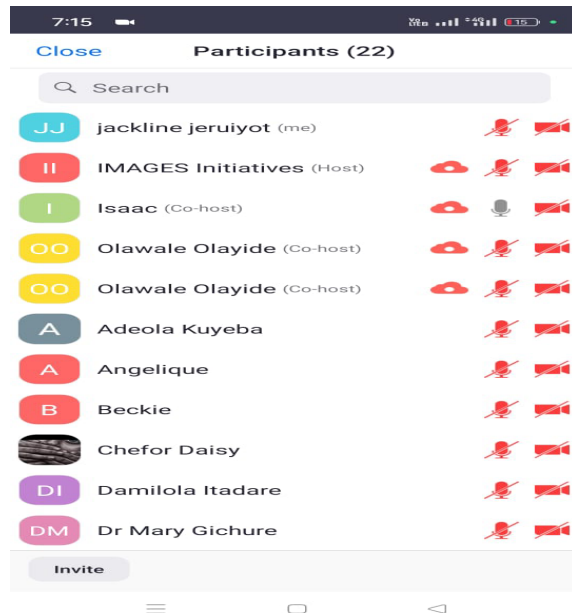

The program provided me with invaluable knowledge in essential skills such as proposal and article writing, equipping participants with the ability to effectively communicate their research. I also gained hands-on experience in data collection using tools like Kobo, alongside comprehensive training in quantitative data analysis. The use of Excel for basic data analysis and SPSS for advanced statistical techniques enhanced my capacity to process and interpret data with precision.

Activities involved-during the AGMCP 2024 Fellowship

The program's sessions were enriched by the participation of moderators and speakers from diverse industries and backgrounds. Their unique perspectives and expertise provided a well-rounded learning experience, offering valuable insights and fostering a deeper understanding of various topics. This diversity significantly enhanced the overall impact of the program, making each session both engaging and informative.

Acknowledgments

- ❖ I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the AGMCP Management, led by Dr. Olayide, for their unwavering dedication to empowering emerging researchers through the program's annual activities.
- ❖ My sincere thanks go to my mentor, Dr. Omobolaji Obisesan, along with the other mentors and invited presenters, for their valuable time and effort in enriching us as mentees.
